Yes, your smartphone!
First Tom looks at the types of photography that the phone is good for - from portraiture to landscapes, architecture to cityscapes - plus how to use the phone to 'sketch' before getting out the 'proper camera'. All illustrated with a mix of his own images with some from the world's leading phone photographers. Then a practical session linking Tom's phone to the screen to show how to get the best out of taking your photos and how you can process them. Bring your own phone and images!
